MR. BUSY

Mr. Busy is not an old man, he's a young man. Mr. Busy lives with his family in a big city in Peru. He has a lot of things to do every day, but all the things he has to do are the same day by day. His day starts at 4:50 am when his alarm rings. He doesn't wake up immediately. He sleeps some more minutes. The alarm rings again just in time to take a shower.

By 5:00 am, he goes to the bathroom and takes a cold shower; he says that a shower with hot water is not good for a busy day. He spends 10 minutes in the shower. At about 5:10 am, he gets dressed. He puts on his underwear, his pants, his socks, his shoes, and finally his shirt. He spends 20 minutes getting dressed.

By 5:30, he goes to the kitchen and prepares his breakfast; he doesn't like to have breakfast at home, so he takes it to the university. Mr. Busy's first class is at 6:00 am, and his teacher is always in time for the class. Mr. Busy likes to be in time to have everything ready to begin the class.

At about 9:25 am, Mr. Busy has breakfast at the university tables with his friends. His second class starts at 10:05 am, and it finishes at about 11:45 am. When he leaves the classroom, he immediately goes to the cafeteria and buys his lunch, because he only has 20 minutes to eat.

When he finishes his lunch, he is ready to go to work; so, he has to walk 7 blocks to get the metro station. From the metro station to his office, he spends almost 35 minutes, and he must be in his office by 12:45 pm; what means, he must run from the metro station to his office to be on time.

Mr. Busy works all day from 12:45 pm to 9:30 pm, and when he finishes his busy day at work, he has to get a bus to go home; sometimes he gets the bus at about 9:35 pm, and sometimes he gets the bus at about 9:40 pm.

When Mr. Busy gets home, he greets his family, his wife, his daughter, his mother, his 2 brothers, and his sister. His wife serves him dinner, and they talk about their day while having dinner together.

Every night, before going to sleep; Mr. Busy plays with his baby girl, she is just one month old. When she falls asleep, he starts writing some lines for his English book.

Finally, Mr. Busy goes to bed at about 11:45 pm every day. He's very tired, but he loves what he does.
